North Olmsted, Ohio... No matter your showering style, Moen has you covered. Its new Attract™ Combination Handshower and Rainshower with Magnetix™, is the first combination showerhead to feature the brand's innovative, magnetic docking technology.

“Showerheads with Magnetix offer a powerful magnetic dock that allows for easy release of the handshower, as well as a secure return back into place, even with your eyes closed,” said Maribeth Kwasniewski, director of retail marketing, Moen. “With the introduction of Magnetix, we transformed the way people use handshowers, making them simpler and more intuitive to use. We wanted to take this technology and provide even more options for consumers...”

creating the best of both worlds, a combination showerhead with Magnetix technology, was the logical next step.”

The Attract combination showerhead features not one, but three, showering options within a single fixture. The three-way diverter allows consumers to use the rainshower and handshower separately. Or, they can combine them together for maximum coverage, depending on individual preferences.

And, the personalization doesn't stop there. The handshower offers six high-performance spray options, all with optimized pressure ranging from massage to combinations of soft and forceful full-rinse sprays, easily changed with the switch of a dial. The handshower also features a pause/trickle button to momentarily stop water flow when needed. A flexible, kink-free, 60-inch metal hose provides enhanced reach in the tub or shower, simplifying bathing children, washing pets and cleaning the shower.

Installation is effortless, too. The showerhead fits most standard shower arms – so it's quickly installed using existing plumbing.

“Not only does the new Attract combination showerhead offer the benefits of magnetic docking, but it also provides countless ways to customize,” added Kwasniewski. “Consumers no longer have to choose between the full flow of a rainshower or the convenient functionality of a handshower – they can have it all.”

THE NEW ATTRACT COMBINATION SHOWERHEAD FEATURES NOTABLE MOEN® INNOVATIONS:

Spot Resist™ Finish

Moen's exclusive Spot Resist™ finish resists fingerprints and water spots to maintain the brilliance of the fixture.

The showerhead also features Moen's limited lifetime warranty to ensure superior quality.
